

Computer Help

I was struggling to try and fix my computer by myself. I got a computer for my 12th birthday. I was very frustrated. I was trying to play computer games but wasn't able to. My friend Steven came by and helped me. He fixed it from the settings icon.

We ended up playing "Overwatch" together and having fun. I said "thanks for helping". He said "anytime I can help you when you need me." I said "I need help with one more thing." Steven said "what is it?" I said "can you turn on my stream?" He said "ok what do need help with?" Just put on all the graphics and accessories on my computer so I can be ready to go and stream". Steven said "sure thing, any thing for my best friend.” He set all the stuff for my stream and gadgets so I would be ready.

After we were done I said “do you what to stay over for the night?” He said “I have to ask my mom.” I said “call your mom now and ask if you can, and if not it is ok for you to stay stay here for a little longer.” He said “yes!” While Steven was over I said to him “do you what to call Cole up and see what he is up to?” I whispered to steven “don’t tell him about this, ok? because if we do he might feel left out.” Steven said “ok I will not tell him.” So I called Cole and I said “what is up?” He said “nothing much why do you want to know?” I said “BTW Steven is at my house right now he just helped me with some stuff ”. Cole said “Ok”. I said “If you
